Kirk And Skok Are Convicted—Brownmiller Is Seeking New Trial

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Aug. 21.—An early decision by Judge Howard W. Hughes on the appeal for a new trial of Roy E. Brownmiller, convicted ex-secretary of the commonwealth prepared for its next graft trial following the conviction of two of three defendants in the bonding conspiracy trial.

The next trial will be that of Democratic State Chairman David L. Lawrence, a former secretary of the commonwealth in the Earle administration. It is scheduled to open September 25.

Temple Acquitted

The jury of seven men and five women, which heard 10 days of testimony in the second of the state's graft trials, late Saturday handed down guilty verdicts against James P. Kirk, Pittsburgh city treasurer, and Victor S. Skok, agent for Kirk's Insurance Agency, but acquitted Heber H. Temple, former chief highway engineer in the Earle administration. The jury was out eight hours.

The two men were convicted of conspiring with Temple and the late Warren Van Dyke, secretary of highways in the Earle administration, to force insurance agents and contractors to place their bonding business with the Kirk Insurance Agency of Pittsburgh and the John J. Manley Company of Philadelphia. A grand jury refused to indict Manley.

The two men were expected to be permitted to retain their freedom on bond pending a probable appeal for a new trial. Temple was the only one of the three defendants present as the jury's verdict was read. A smile wreathed the face of the former highway official, who was dismissed in 1937 by Governor Earle, as the verdict of acquittal was read.

It isn't very often that you can tear down a 60-foot bridge span and within 60 minutes permit traffic over the site where it stood, but this was what happened at the paper mill bridge, according to Bert Dinsmore. The eastern span, which is being junked, was torn down by Albert Gabriel to whom it had been sold. Meanwhile the WPA workers had filled up the old millrace and gully, making it possible to cross the remaining portion of the paper mill bridge as soon as the old span was removed.

If there is anything that will test a driver's patience it is getting behind a big truck, or worse yet, a truck and trailer. Most of these trucks climb a hill at a snail's pace, and when they reach the top, the driver speeds up, seemingly not caring how many cars have been held up behind him. If truck drivers were more courteous and would give car operators an opportunity to pass when the hilltop has been reached, there would be so much criticism of trucks on our highways.* * *
Pa New is informed that there is considerable work needed on the New Bedford-Pulaski road, where the state built two bridges last winter. At the approaches to these two bridges there are a lot of loose stones and bumps that are liable to cause accidents, particularly if motorists attempt to cross them at night.

Collide; Thirty-Four Hurt

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 21.—Thirty-four persons were injured, four seriously, when a Greyhound bus bound from New York for Washington collided with a fire engine answering a false alarm on Roosevelt boulevard in North Philadelphia early today.

Police reported the front part of the bus was almost demolished and that 29 of its 30 passengers were hurt. Portions of the fire engine were strewn over the highway.

Most critically injured was Walter Midella, 32, of Camden, N. J., driver of the bus. Physicians at Frankford hospital, where the injured were taken, prepared to amputate his leg and expressed doubt Midella would recover.

Two Firemen Hurt

Two firemen of the six riding in the engine were seriously injured. They were Captain Charles J. Hobson, 51, scalp and leg injuries, and Hoseman Joseph Deyer, 47, lacerations of face and shoulder. Three other hosemen were bruised and another escaped harm.

Letera Loses In
Court DecisionCourt Rules He Is Not Entitled To Re-instatement
On Police ForceCAN APPLY FOR RESERVE LIST PLACE

In an opinion handed down by Judge W. Walter Braham at court this morning it is held that Robert Letera, former policeman, is not entitled to re-instatement on the police force, after some six years absence. It is decreed, however, that Letera is entitled to apply for a place on the reserve list.

The case came up recently when Letera applied to Mayor Charles McGrath for his old job on the force. He had asked for a leave of absence on June 23, 1933, when Charles B. Mayne was mayor. There was nothing on the councilman's records showing for how long the leave was to be granted, and the question arose as to his eligibility after such a long absence.

Ask Court Opinion

It was decided to ask the court for an opinion. At the hearing, before Judge Braham it was found that there were no supreme court cases specifically covering such cases. In quite a lengthy opinion Judge Braham discusses the different angles of the case and draws the following conclusion:

"It is ordered and decreed that Robert Letera, having left the employment as a member of the police force of the City of New Castle, June 23, 1933, and having been engaged in other business occupations, between June 23, 1933 and July 7, 1939, was not entitled, by virtue of his reporting for duty, July 7, 1939, to be re-instatement as a member of the New Castle police force, and is not entitled to compensation as a policeman from and after July 7, 1939."

"It is found, as a fact, that by necessary implication from his conduct, he has resigned his office as a city policeman, on June 23rd, 1933, with the permission of the council of the City of New Castle, at a time when he was in good standing in the service of the city."

"He is entitled to apply for a place on the reserve list as provided by section 1 or section 2, of rule 5, of the rules and regulations of the civil service board for police of the City of New Castle. Costs of the proceeding are placed on the city."

Schedule—Many Special Features

With many herds of cattle, halls filled with farm products and needle handwork, buildings enhanced in appearance, the public awaits noon Tuesday to greet the opening of the annual fair of the New Castle Agricultural Association at the fair grounds on the Harlansburg road.

With good weather, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, indications augur the biggest crowds in several years.

For months officials of the association have been tirelessly striving to bring fair plans to maturity and judging from statements issued today, maturity has been attained and the fair will be a huge success. Of course, as stated prior, weather conditions always plays a big part in attendance. If weather is ideal thousands day and night will crowd the fair.

Afternoon And Night

There will be activities afternoon and night. Shortly after the fair is opened a Wild West Rodeo containing 60 bucking horses will be staged. Colonel Gatewood will be in charge of the spectacular performance which will get under way at the race track. The cream of riders, men and women, will exhibit their ability.

Wednesday will be crowded with features. In addition to the rodeo, there will start a three days harness race program. Paul Wright, Canfield, O., will be the starter. As soon as two races are completed each day the calvacade of cattle will be staged. All the breeders of the best cattle in the tri-state district have entries. The rodeo will follow.

For the benefit of those who are unable to attend daylight proclivities at the fair grounds, the association has arranged to keep the fair open at night and it is believed that the night rodeo attractions, plus the midway attractions and other exhibits will result in the largest nocturnal outpouring in years.

A spectacular event of Friday afternoon will be the performance of a public wedding ceremony.

A large crowd visited the fair grounds yesterday. They witnessed caretakers grooming the "blue blooded" stock preparatory to their entry into contests for ribbons. They also watched trotters and pacers jogging around the half mile track.

PARIS, Aug. 21.—"If I were convinced that England and France really would try permanently to block me from eastern Europe, I would rather fight them this year than next."

These words were uttered by Chancellor Adolf Hitler to Prof. Karl J. Burckhardt, league of Nations commissioner to Danzig, during their conference at Berchtesgaden, August 15, International News Service learned today from sources acquainted with the contents of the commissioner's report to the British government.

Burckhardt, in one of the few remarks permitted him during the flood of Hitler's talk told Der Fuehrer:

"A distinguished foreigner told me you were showing yourself stronger this year than last."

"Why?" Hitler demanded.

"More Moderate?"

Russia-Germany
Trade Agreement

INVOLVED IN DEAL

(International News Service)

MOSCOW, Aug. 21.—Signature of a seven-year Russo-German trade agreement involving $152,000,000 provided today a sensational threat to conclusion of the Franco-British-Soviet alliance against Nazi-Fascist aggression.

The commercial accord completed after eight months of negotiations under the noses of French and British military leaders here to talk defense plans with the Russians, stipulated that Germany will buy $72,000,000 (180,000,000 marks) worth of U. S. S. R. timber, oil, metals and minerals over a two-year period.

Germany, in turn, granted the Soviets $80,000,000 (200,000,000 marks) in credits, at 5 per cent, over a period of seven years, for Russian purchases in the Reich of electrical machinery and other technical equipment.

"Second Munich?"

Rebirth on such a vast scale of Russo-German trade, dormant for years, coupled with a broadcast radio news bulletin quoting a Paris message that the British Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain had sent parliament home to be free to "effect a second Munich" in the current crisis, gave substance to a growing belief the Gradiosé plans for an alliance linking Russia with Britain and France against the axis power were moribund.

Unless Russia had taken the attitude that "business is business" irrespective of political color lines, diplomats believed, there can be little hope the staff talks now in progress will get anywhere in view of the careful timing of the trade agreement.

LONDON, Aug. 21.—The advisability of re-affirming Franco-British intentions of abiding by guarantees to Poland of military assistance in the event of axis aggression in a direct communication to Chancellor Hitler, will be seriously studied at tomorrow's meeting of key ministers, a government spokesman revealed today.

This disclosure followed an important conference between Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain and British Foreign Secretary Viscount Halifax during which all aspects of the European crisis and new Japanese threats of a blockade against Hongkong were carefully scrutinized.

Cabinet Session Tuesday

The meeting was preparatory to tomorrow's all-important session of eleven members of the cabinet, following which, it was understood, a declaration will be made jointly with the French government, setting forth Britain's determination not to yield to pressure either on the continent or in the Orient.

The position of the British government, as outlined by the spokesman, otherwise "remained unchanged." For the moment, no new communication to Germany appeared.

Conviction In State Trial To Result In His Resignation

STILL HAS FAITH IN VINDICATION

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Aug. 21.—Rather than risk possible embarrassment for his party, James P. Kirk, convicted Saturday on two indictments charging an alleged state bonding conspiracy, prepared today to resign as Allegheny county Democratic chairman.

Kirk, who is also Pittsburgh city treasurer, maintained his innocence and declared the verdict reached Saturday night at Harrisburg was the result of "political animosity". He said he planned to call the Democratic county committee together and resign "so that the party will suffer no embarrassment in the coming campaign."

There was no indication that Mayor Cornelius D. Scully planned to remove Kirk from his city post or ask for his resignation. Kirk's statement said:

"I am resigning as chairman in view of the verdict reached Saturday in Harrisburg which was entirely the result of political animosity. So that the party will suffer no embarrassment in the coming campaign, I will issue a call for a meeting of the county committee within a few days."

"As I stated in court I committed no offense except soliciting legitimate business in a business way. Personal, political and business friends know that I never committed any act with criminal intent. Mr. Eaton (Oliver K. Eaton, Kirk's attorney) will prosecute my appeal vigorously and in the end I am sure that I will be completely vindicated."

It was later determined that the alarm to which the fire truck was speeding was a false one.

New Castle's fair, which will be in full swing this week, is among the earlier ones to be held this season. From now on, all over the country, state and county fairs will be held. Highways will be teeming with hilarious or tired families going to, or coming from these events. Spending a day or two at a fair is a good thing to do. It tends to break the dull monotony of life, and gives one an insight into fields of endeavor outside that of his own occupation. The pigs and the cows, sheep, horses, ducks, chickens, turkeys, goats and geese will all be glad to see you at the fair.

It seems but a few days since we heard the veterinarians and the salubrious offer remedies for the present ills of the world, and here we are only about two weeks into the opening of school. Why does the summer seem so short and the winters so long? Probably it's because summer sports seem to make the time pass more rapidly. Even the long days are far too short when we're swimming, golfing or batting a ball around. Winter has its recreations, too, but it's easier to find a swimming hole in the summer than a skating pond in winter.

In a recent report the bureau of public roads takes a shot at billboards, branding them as a "positive menace" to safe driving. Billboards are generally placed close to the highway and by every conceivable device they seek to attract the attention of the traveling public. A momentary glance at them may mean an accident to a driver. We are trying to make this state a mecca for vacationists, but at almost every turn of the principal highways beautiful views are obscured by giant billboards.

We have become so accustomed to airplanes flitting through the sky that we don't crane our necks any more to follow them. Many never even look up when an airplane sings. Despite the fact that airplanes have become common, the majority of people have never been up in one. Some are afraid, and others just don't have any desire to fly. Pa Newc has often heard people say they they would travel in an airplane if an emergency required it, but they have no inclination to go up for pleasure. How do you feel about it?

Sunday afternoon a transformed school bus was stalled at the traffic light East and Washington streets. The bus contained two race horses bound for the New Castle Fair. There was a platform above the cab and hood on which was piled the racing buggies and a couple of bales of hay. It developed that progress was halted for lack of gas. Some one suggested that the bus be given a little hay.

In the flower garden on the premises of Dr. and Mrs. T. M. Shaffer, of Euclid avenue, there is something unusual. It is a beautiful pink rose on the end of a stem, 62 inches long, shooting out, about one inch above the ground, from the main part of the rose bush. They also have a couple of rows of tomato plants, the doctor counted 48 tomatoes on one plant. Had two dozen pumpkins on a few vines, and some bug or worm got into vine stems, and all the pumpkins but one, died. There is a profusion of beautiful flowers in the garden.

A carrier pigeon, evidently weak from a long flight, came to the right place for a Sunday dinner, when it alighted at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Simon Unangst Sunday. The pigeon came in through an upper story window, made its way down the stairs, and was found on the dining room table, where it was voraciously devouring food. The pigeon was quite tame. When examined, a slip of paper was found tied to its leg on which was written, "149-AU-39 W.H.G." After it had eaten all it wanted, and seemed sufficiently rested the pigeon was taken out and released. It circled several times over Edenburg and then headed due west.

Harlansburg and Leesburg on the Perry highway got a surprise yesterday when the volume of traffic over the highway took a sudden spurt. Although the highway between Dixie Inn and Portersville has been closed all summer, and a detour in effect which took traffic through Ellwood City and New Castle, and there had been no formal notice that traffic would be allowed over the old route on Sunday, it became evident early in the day that the old route was being used. Sunday afternoon traffic assumed something of old time proportions on this route. Opening of the Perry highway route between Dixie Inn and Portersville will also eliminate the detour traffic over the Harlansburg road to Slippery Rock.

likely or necessary in view of what the authorized spokesman called the "clear position" of his majesty's government.

For the moment no new written or spoken demarches will be sent to Hitler despite increasing reports of German military concentrations in Slovakia described by the British press as constituting a threat to Poland.

May Re-affirm Stand

After tomorrow's meeting of key ministers, however, instructions may be sent to British Ambassador Sir Neville Henderson in Berlin, the spokesman admitted, reaffirming Franco-British intentions to intervene on Poland's behalf in the event of aggression in Danzig constituting what Poland would consider a threat to her territorial integrity of independence.

The attitude of "calm nerves" was resumed by British diplomats with indications Chamberlain and Halifax would resume their holidays Wednesday, barring unpredictable worsening of the already critical situation.

Undersecretary for War Leslie Hore-Beilis was in Paris today, conferring with French Premier Edouard Daladier, to gather information to be presented to the ministers tomorrow.

The spokesman emphasized Anglo-French solidarity, and praised Poland for "calmness" under Nazi press fire.

No "Abnormal" Movement

Warsaw, Aug. 21.—An assertion by the Polish authorities here today that the government was not aware of any "abnormal" German troop concentrations in Slovakia, tended to discredit sensational reports of unusual Nazi military activity in that strategic area.

There would be no reason, it was pointed out, for Warsaw to make light of any alarming German activities across the frontier.

Information reaching the Polish government was to the effect that the Germans had occupied the narrow zone in Slovakia defined in the German-Slovakian treaty and that the Nazi army had not crossed the Vag river, as reported in foreign dispatches (not carried by International News Service).

While it was known Poland had taken adequate military precautions to protect the Slovakian-Polish frontier, their extent was not divulged.

"THE OUTSTANDING CLEANERS, FURRIERS, DYERS"

HITLER NOT CONVINCED OF BRITISH ATTITUDE

plied, "you were being more moderate this year than last, and that is a sign of strength."

Turning to Gauleiter Albert Forster, the Nazi Danzig leader who was present at the interview, Hitler said:

"You see, that is the sort of thing that ought to be told to that Ribbentrop."

Hitler was reported to have heavily stressed the word "that" in referring to Nazi foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop.

These remarks, authentically reported by an individual personally sympathetic to Hitler, throw considerable light upon the question everybody in Europe is asking on this "fateful Monday"—will this week, this month, this year bring war?

Der Fuehrer's first statement means that if he thinks his enemies intend to fight some time, he would rather fight them now because he believes his enemies are growing stronger, that is to say, time is working against Germany.

This is the first indication from Der Fuehrer's own mouth that he holds this fundamentally important point of view.

Wettich-Negele Ceremony In Westminster Chapel

White gladoli, combined with ferns, foliage and graceful palms, set off in the glow of stately lighted white Cathedral candles in branching candelabrum, added charm and dignity to a pretty wedding ceremony Saturday afternoon, in Westminster College Chapel, when Miss Virgil Wettich was united in marriage to Charles Frederick Negele, son of Mrs. Jeanette F. Negele and the late John Negele of Lakewood, Ohio.

In the presence of upwards of two hundred guests, including relatives and friends of the prominent couple, the vows were exchanged at 3:45 o'clock with the Rev. Daniel C. Schnebly, pastor of the Mahoningtown Presbyterian church, reading the service. The single ring ceremony was used.

The bride, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Wettich of 502 West Clayton street, this city, given in marriage by her father, was lovely in her wedding gown of white crepe made princess style, and tapered off into a slight train. Her finger tip veil of white net fell from a band of seed pearls and her only jewelry was a pearl clip at the neckline of her dress. She carried an arm bouquet of white orchids and roses.

Carl F. Herbold, of Lakewood, O., and close friend of the groom, served as best man.

Mrs. Ralph Alexander Hamilton was her sister's matron of honor, and appeared in a floor length gown of chartreuse crepe, with gold accessories. Her turban of matching net was unique in style, tipped to one side on her head, and a shoulder length veil falling from the opposite side. Her arm bouquet was of yellow roses.

Lending further to the impressiveness of the occasion, a half hour program of organ selections were contributed preceding the ceremony, played by Mrs. John Walker of Pittsburgh, sorority sister of the bride. Included in her numbers were "In A Monastery Garden"; "I Love You Truly"; "O Promise Me"; and Introduction to the third Act of Lohengrin. During this period, the guests were ushered to their seats by Robert C. Warner of this city, Ralph C. Frerichs, of Lakewood, O., both cousins of the groom, M. W. McMullan also of Lakewood, and Dr. Ralph Alexander Hamilton, this city.

Immediately following the ceremony, the couple received congratulations in the Chapel, and later, a reception was held for the immediate families and close relatives, numbering ninety, at a prominent tavern. A buffet lunch was served, the nuptial theme predominating in tones of yellow and white.

For her daughters wedding, Mrs. Wettich was attired in a sky blue and dobonnet sheer ensemble, made redingote style, with matching accessories. A shoulder corsage of orchids completed her attire. The groom's mother selected a Navy and white sheer dress, with accompaniments in Navy, and her shoulder corsage was also of orchids.

Later, the bride and groom left on a trip to Canada and a boat trip down the St. Lawrence River. For traveling, the bride was attired in a Navy and white sheer ensemble, with matching accessories, and a shoulder bouquet of white orchids. Upon returning, Mr. and Mrs. Negele will take up residence at 1277 Jackson avenue, Lakewood, O.

Mrs. Negele is a graduate of New Castle high school and Westminster College. She has been teaching in the Oakdale high school at Oakdale, Pa., and also the Benjamin Franklin Junior High School of this city. She is a member of the Chi Omega sorority. Mr. Negele is a graduate of Lakewood High and received his B. S. degree from Case School of Applied Science. He is a member of the Phi Kappa Psi fraternity and is now employed in the Engineering Department of the American Steel and Wire Company, Cleveland, O.

Guests were present at the wedding from Cleveland, O., Lakewood, O., Pittsburgh, Erie, Corry, Youngstown, O., Butler, McKeesport, Carnegie, Avalon, Oakdale, Oil City and Canton, O.

On Friday evening, the rehearsal was held in the Chapel, at 8:30 and a buffet supper followed at the New Castle Field Club for the bridal couple and their attendants, with Dr. and Mrs. Ralph A. Hamilton presiding in the role of hosts.

DOUGHBOY STILL ARMY'S BACKBONE

ARMIES may be modernized, motorized, mechanized; equipped with the latest scientific instruments of destruction and defense; supported by planes and guns and tanks and trucks; but the foot soldier remains the main dependence of the military force.

That has been demonstrated again in the war games at Manassas, where 23,000 troops of the First Army deployed in strenuous maneuvers. "The days of infantry marching," summed up the commander of the Third Corps, Major General Parsons, "have just begun." The doughboy remains the backbone of the Army. When ground is to be gained and held the infantry has what it takes.

The doughboys have a song with which they express their opinion of the other arms. One of the less ribald verses goes: "The cavalry, artillery and the greasy engineers—Oh, they'll never lick the infantry in a hundred million years." The infantry, especially the American version of it, is hard to lick.

TO OCCUPY ANTARCTIC CONTINENT?

Uncle Sam, operating through the navy department and Admiral Byrd, is apparently going to occupy a large part of the Antarctic Continent, no matter what any other country says about it. Preparations are going right ahead with the full cooperation of all departments of our government. There will be further scientific surveys in areas where representatives of the United States have already done more of such work than other nations have done anywhere on the frozen continent.

The idea is duplex. We are going to explore the region more thoroughly and we are preparing to hold our claims and titles against the world.

Any patriotic American can get a certain "kick" out of it. But whether the average American has any real enthusiasm for that distant, frozen, inhospitable land at the other end of the world, is hard to say. Much of our popular interest, no doubt, is due to admiration for Admiral Byrd and his work. To many it is just a big sporting adventure. As for flag-flying in distant places, we are not so fond of that as we used to be. As for natural resources, the inevitable question is, "How and when are we going to get 'em out?" We have vast resources right here on this continent, undeveloped.

The most disquieting fact in the situation is that Argentina, nearest of all Western Hemisphere countries to Antarctica, claims the region in question. It is next door to her and far away from us. Argentina is the strongest of Latin-American nations and the most unconquered opponent of Uncle Sam in the entire hemisphere. Many Americans question now whether we should antagonize Argentina in this case. Antarctica might be to her some day what Alaska is to us.

FOR SAFER NIGHT DRIVING

Although only about a third of all automobile driving is done at night more than half of all traffic fatalities occur during that period. Falling asleep at the wheel or overindulgence in liquor all too frequently account for the more dangerous conditions of the highways at night. But defective lighting is a major fault. This is shown by the rise in deaths in rural areas after dark. More than half of victims are pedestrians, run down by drivers who commonly, because of the glare of cars approaching in the opposite direction, could not see ahead.

Illumination experts long have striven to overcome the handicap. They have made progress, but not in the degree with the improvement, for instance, in braking. Now, however, after three years of concerted effort by various automobile interests, perfection of a new type of light is announced. According to the claims made for it, the lamp will give greatly increased range and breadth of light through its high or "country" beam and will reduce glare, while illuminating much more fully the right side of the road, with the low or traffic beam. It will also remain in correct aiming and focus without the frequent adjustments now required and without loss of efficiency in brightness.

Such a lamp would appear to meet present requirements, and that the tests have been satisfactory is evident from the fact that most automobile manufacturers have agreed to use it as standard equipment on the 1940 models. It will necessitate changes in the laws of states restricting the power and range of lights as well as regulations compelling prompt use of the lower beams with meeting another car. Such cooperation by the states will doubtless readily be extended.

TEST OF OIL PRORATION

More than half of the country's oil has ceased to flow, now that five other states have joined with Texas in shutting down production for 15 days. This is in a heroic effort to keep the price structure from collapse. That much was assured after a meeting of the Interstate Oil Compact Commission, an organization representing those states that are in agreement to provide production. New Mexico, Oklahoma, Kansas, Arkansas and Louisiana are the co-operating states. California and Illinois are in doubt.

The United States has the largest known oil resources of any nation. Last year it produced three-fifths of the world output. But it is a world in which some nations, vitally needing oil, lack the economic wherewithal to acquire it. That leaves this country embarrassed by too much oil already brought above ground, with consequent breaks in price and threat to stability of the market. The unfortunate thing about the present situation, however effective the temporary shutdown of production may be, is that it can develop time and again in the future, unless there is a concerted effort by all big oil states to regulate output. Unlike cotton, wheat and other commodities, oil is not a crop, seasonally capable of replenishment. What there is going to be is there now. A consequent temptation in some quarters is to draw too heavily on the supply now and to take what profits there may be now rather than in a more or less distant future.

Most of the oil states have conservation commissions, some alert, and some not so much, and to the dangers from too heavy production. It was to avoid a dog-eat-dog competition in the disposal of a national resource that the Oil Compact Commission was set up. Long heads among state governments and oil men saw its need. Some of them today are concerned lest a failure by the states, in interstate agreement, to handle their own problem may foreshadow national oil control. This is an additional incentive to bringing order out of chaos.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

GETTING CHILD SET FOR SCHOOL

Parents who have a child that will enter school for the first time this fall have, we trust, done the things necessary to get him ready. According, they have had a doctor look him over, examining his ears, eyes, nose, teeth and general physical condition.

Thanks to the summer round-up program of the P. T. A. in many a community, this was done last spring. If the child needed dental treatment, he has, if possible, received it. If the doctor advised removal of adenoids or tonsils or other remedial care, that has been attended to.

The first few months at school prove a pretty severe ordeal to the child under most favorable conditions. How much more so to the one with physical handicaps!

We parents owe it to every school child to have him in as good physical condition on the first day of school as is possible for us to effect. This applies to the youngster of the sixth or twelfth grade as well as to the one of the first. Most other things are comparatively unimportant.

And I should like to urge my young friends who will go to college, also those who will teach, to do their utmost now to have themselves in good physical trim for the work of the next year.

School A Happy Prospect

We parents want the tot to look forward happily and hopefully to his first day at school. All our references, therefore, to school will be made with this in mind. Even when most vexed at the child, we will not permit ourselves to sink to such a childish level as to say, "Wait till you get to school. Then you will have to mind."

Moreover, we will warn older children and playmates against any unpleasant reference to school in the presence of the young prospective pupil. Once such a reference has been heard, or the child about to enter school has expressed fear about the teacher or bullies, we will do our best to allay such fears.

Emotional Weaning Essential

By all means this child should be weaned emotionally before the first day of school. If, Mother, he cries after you and can hardly be happy out of your sight, you should go away from home more, leaving him quite frequently from now until school starts, first a few hours, then for a night and still later for a week-end.

Do your utmost to train the youngster to wait on himself and to cultivate self-reliance in all possible ways. Help him to mingle freely at play with many other children of his age, attracting them to your premises, even going with him where other such children are. Encourage him to settle his own quarrels and battles, to be brave when he is hurt and not to run to you when things don't go to his liking. Many a child has learned social adaptation by going early to Sunday school.

Remember Lot's Wife

If for safety you go with him on his first day to school, meet the teacher, present the child and turn immediately toward home. Don't look back. Remember Lot's wife. On account of the lingering and looking back of parents—at home or school—there's enough salt in tears shed in the United States on any one day to make many pillars of salt as large as Lot's.

HINTS AND DINTS

Sun sets tonight 6:50. Sun rises tomorrow 5:16.

We like the way the Chambers Motor company keeps its place on Croton avenue. It always looks fine and is a big advertisement for New Castle. People are impressed when they go into a city by the way things look. Junk yards unkept are not a good thing for people to see when they first go into a city.

We broke off a tooth one morning at nine o'clock. This tooth had a phony one anchored to it. We looked it over and dentist and after he told us to come back next morning. When we got there he slipped two teeth into our face and it only took a few minutes. He had worked until midnight the night before on this plate. We were then taken to another dentist, who drilled out the root of the old tooth. He also did a fine job. We were pleased and would mention the names of the dentists, but they do not believe in advertising.

No doubt President Roosevelt would also like to hold over the next presidential election to 1944.

"When Admiral Farragut was preparing to storm New Orleans the Navy Department sent him a very complete plan of the city's defenses. Farragut stormed and took New Orleans. Afterward, in Washington, a high official asked him indignantly why he had never thanked the department for the plan it had sent him, nor even acknowledged the plan's receipt.

"On studying the plan," said Farragut, "I found that it proved New Orleans could never be taken. So I took it and tore up the plan."

As he sat down after announcing his gift a piece of plaster fell from the ceiling and struck him on the head. Confused, he arose and said he had meant to give $50.

"Hit him on the head just once more, oh Lord."

One great trouble with this country economically is that so many people live here who can't afford to work for what they are worth.

Not only does crime not pay, but a whining confession makes it look bad.

He had gone to a convention and wound up without train fare home.

Going to the head of the delegation he sought to borrow the fare, but was told the chairman was broke, too.

"But we can do this," said the chairman. "I have a return ticket. You come in with me as though you were just going to see me off. Then you climb under the seat until the conductor passes."

With great bone-bending the man got under the seat. When the conductor arrived the waggy chairman gave him two tickets.

"One is for my friend Smith here," he said. "He's a bit peculiar and likes to ride under the seat."

We are surprised at some of the people who refused to donate anything to the iron lung fund. And some of them would benefit more than the ordinary person if we have an epidemic of infantile paralysis. Can you guess who they are?

What's What At A Glance

Wheeler Could Hardly Be Compromise.
Was Once Termed Much Too Liberal.
Now Harpoons New Deal Measures.

BY CHARLES P. STEWART

Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—Senator

Burton Wheeler of Montana is a peculiar individual to be mentioned as a possible liberal-conservative compromise for the Democrats' 1940 presidential nomination.

In his time Wheeler has been a liberal, if ever there was one. In fact, he generally was classed as ultra-radical. At least he was enough of a leftist to run for president in 1924. With a record like that one wouldn't think that present-era conservatives would be inclined to accept him as a candidatorial compromise, from their standpoint.

Nevertheless, not the most unqualified stand-patter in congress has harpooned certain New Deal policies as effectively as Burton K. has. Would this seem calculated to make him an acceptable compromise from the supposedly very liberal New Dealers' angle?

All the same, Wheeler's suggestion as a compromise.

What Is He?

My own estimate of the Montana Statesman is that he's an honest-to-goodness democrat (with a small "d") and a democrat of a pretty vintage type. He certainly was far too leftward to suit the Bourbon Democrats (big "D") 15 years ago, though undoubtedly they're appreciative of the trouble he's made for New Dealerism more recently.

What Burton K. evidently doesn't like in the New Deal is what he considers its tendency toward Nazism or Fascism, and of Hitler and Mussolini are radicals they're the opposite kind of radicals from his kind; his kind is in the direction of all colors of personal liberty.

In short, as he sees it, we have a rectangular situation: Democrats (big "D"), democrats (little "d"), Republicans and New Dealers, who, in his judgment, are on the way toward what nowadays we call "totalitarianism."

Wheeler super-emphatically is a democrat (little "d").

I wouldn't suppose that anybody but democrats (little "d") could compromise on the New Deal. The Democrats (big "D") and the Republicans probably are grateful to him for the heck he's raised with the New Deal, but that they'd endorse him as their standard-bearer strikes me as altogether unlikely. And that the New Dealers acquiesce! It's ridiculous.

They might compromise on young Senator La Follette or Senator Norris (if he weren't so old). But Wheeler's anti-New Deal as Senator Hale of Maine or Senator Glass of Virginia.

Supreme Court Fight

Senator Wheeler began to be talked about compromising on account of concurred with Roosevelt's relative to the outcome of the federal supreme court reorganization contest.

Earlier in his term, as we know, the president was bothered by the conservative court's hostile attitude to his New Deal plans. Accordingly he proposed to increase the number of justices to enable him to appoint enough new ones to out-vote the conservatives. This was described as a scheme to "pack" the court, subordinating it to the White House. Wheeler led the campaign to prevent it. He did a dandy job and won.

Moreover, Wheeler was a conspicuous job because he was so long been regarded as an enemy of supreme court conservatism.

For all that, the supreme court's been somewhat New Dealerized.

Several retirements enabled the president to name new justices to his liking. A few of the remaining bunch, understandably, were scared into turning more liberal. Today it's a fairly New Dealerish tribunal.

Lost a Battle But—

The other day it appears to have occurred to President Roosevelt that he'd won a supreme court victory—he'd lost a battle but won a war.

"That's true enough," conceded Senator Wheeler.

That admission (which can't be disputed) evidently has been interpreted in various quarters as having qualified Wheeler as a Democratic-liberal-radical-conservative-reactionary compromise presidential candidate.

Will it work?

JUST TOO MUCH

Following the tour of England's George and Elizabeth, a party was arranged in a western Canadian town for the entertainment of the Canadian mounted constables. The party was a merry one and extended far into the night, and when it broke up the entertainers thought it would be a fine thing for each one of them to take one of the Mounties home with them for the balance of the night and breakfast the next morning, which was done.

One of the prominent officials of the Canadian town, where this party was given, happened to remember when he opened his front door that this was his wife's birthday. How he remembered it in the condition in which he was in at the time, is more than can be explained. Nevertheless, accompanied by the rather wobbly Mountie, he opened his wife's bedroom door, saying:

"Happy birthday, I've brought you a mounted policeman."

"Put it on the mantelpiece," said the wife drowsily, switching on the bedside light—and revealing to her husband, the scarlet clad cop. She hasn't forgiven her husband yet.

No Way Out For Europe

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.

IN a recent financial review it was pointed out that whether actual war comes or not, the armament race, if long continued, will bring bankruptcy to most of what have been regarded as the strongest nations in the world. For example, Mr. J. A. Trip, president of the Netherlands Bank and a recognized authority, asserts that in the aggregate various governments are borrowing a billion dollars a month to cover their budget deficits, and that a general European collapse cannot be averted unless fear of war is removed and armaments reduced.

IF MR. TRIP'S statements are accepted—and there seems no escape from them—the catastrophe he forecasts must be put down as certain. Whatever the European nations are getting back to a peacetime economy. Regardless of whether they are in a terrible predicament—if they continue as they are now going, pouring out billions for military and naval purposes, they are bound to bust; if they stop arming and try to reduce armaments they will be confronted with unemployment of such magnitude as to make revolution difficult to avert.

UNDER such circumstances, the vital necessity of this nation keeping its finances under control seems too plain to argue. What happens in Europe, whether it is war or financial collapse, is certain to affect us very much. In the event of war, sound national credit and a strong financial position unquestionably would be one of our greatest defense assets. In the event of European peacetime bankruptcy, an unshakable financial equilibrium would be our best protection. In the event of either, to be caught in a messy insolvency of our own would be to expose ourselves needlessly to the same perils which there seems no way for Europe to escape.

SO CLEAR is this that, regardless of politics and partisanship, it would seem incumbent upon all enlightened Americans to cooperate in recovering our financial equilibrium and sharing up our national financial house against the coming of the inevitable storm. But that is not being done. That is not going to be attempted. That idea is not being remotely considered by the responsible heads of our Government. There is not even a thought of supplying that kind of leadership. On the contrary, the New Dealers, supported by the President, is already announced, plan to make another great drive at the next session of congress—only five months off—to commit this country to the expenditure of additional billions of dollars which will sink us far deeper in the financial mire than we are today.

THEY will not be content, it is said, with merely presenting the spending-lending program which Congress selected a few weeks ago but will go on to make it bigger and better than the one rejected. Stripped of the "self-liquidating" and "outside-the-budget" camouflage, as Senator Byrd has pointed out, the new plan, like the old one, will be merely another gigantic pump-priming, proposal doomed to failure before it begins.

New-Type Boiler Being Made Here

National Radiator Plant Builds Product For Small-House Market

FIRM'S RESEARCH MEN DESIGNED IT

A new boiler, especially designed to meet the requirements of the small-house market, is now being manufactured at the local plant of the National Radiator company. The new boiler was placed in production several weeks ago, and deliveries are now being made from the company's various warehouses.

The new boiler is known as the National No. 1 series heat extractor, and can be used on either steam or hot water heating systems with coal, oil, or gas as fuel. A series of meetings has been held during the last 10 days in key cities to announce the boiler to heating contractors, wholesalers of heating equipment, and builders sponsoring small-home developments. Meetings have been conducted in Richmond, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Newark, New York City, Boston and Washington. Meetings in other cities are to follow during the next few days.

Hailed As New Advance

A development of National's research department, the boiler is considered as an important advance in bringing radiator heating within the reach of small home owners, and, as a result, has received an enthusiastic reception at all of the dealer meetings.

Heretofore, the smallest sizes of larger series of boilers, designed principally for larger-type buildings were the only boilers available for the small homes of 4, 5 and 6 room. It is understood that such boilers are not only costly to manufacture in relation to the capacities of the small homes, but are not as efficient in operation as a boiler designed and proportioned specifically for smaller heating loads.

National's new boiler is said to offer many features contributing to heating comfort and convenient operation never before offered owners of small homes. The boiler can be used on the first floor with hot water heating systems, as well as in the basement, and is also adaptable for steam heating systems—a flexibility not ordinarily provided by small boilers. It is especially well adapted for use with one-pipe hot water heating systems, which have gained widespread popularity for large, as well as small homes, during the last several years. The one-pipe system operates with smaller pipe sizes and radiators, thus materially reduces installation costs. The boiler sections are shipped from the factory assembled, as another means to simplify installation.

The new boiler is beautifully finished in Matador Red and Stygian Black. It is insulated to the floor and is of the "wet base" design to reduce heat loss to a minimum. With the "wet base" the waterways of the sections completely surround the ashpit. This design forms a dustproof ash compartment, permits the boiler to be set on a wood floor without danger of overheating the floor and increases the efficiency of the boiler.

There are also other features.

The Great Game Of Politics

Federal money remains the one New Deal policy left. Instead of turning off the Treasury spigots the Administration program for 1940 is to keep them wider open than before. With full knowledge of this in advance and with the storm warnings here and in Europe clearly in sight, the best service that can be rendered this country in the next five months would seem to be in the creation of a public sentiment that will lead Congress next winter to reject the whole spending business more emphatically than before.

TO THIS end, it seems worth while to keep well in mind the attested figures of our present situation as shown by the following table:

Gross Federal Debt—1932
Direct Government
Obligations	$19,467,000,000
Guaranteed Obligations	None
Total	$19,467,000,000
Gross Federal Debt—1939
Direct Government
Obligations	$40,372,000,000
Guaranteed Obligations	5,410,000,000
Total	$45,782,000,000

IN THE period from June 30, 1932 to June 30, 1939, the Government has acquired a cumulative deficit of $25,301,000,000 and its debt, direct and indirect, has increased $26,315,000,000. In addition the Department of Commerce reports that the assessed value of property in the country, subject to general and selective taxes in the forty-eight states, has fallen from 165 billions to 139 billions, thus showing a decline in the nation's assessable property of 24 billions of dollars in the six years of supposed recovery from the depth of the depression.

ADD TO this that there are still some ten million unemployed and that no basic economic national problem has been solved in six years of experimentation—or is even claimed to have been solved—and it would seem that Congress might well hesitate before authorizing a plan bound to make more liquidated than ever the national financial structure. In light of the European conditions it would seem, too, that these figures, instead of being lightly-heard, might impress a President who seven years ago solemnly warned the American people that deficit financing was dangerous and the piling up of a huge national debt could only result in disaster.

LOAN RATES REDUCED AT HOUSEHOLD FINANCE

Rates cut to 2 1/2% per month on loans up to $100 and 2% per month on balances above $100—Read how you can borrow $100 without co-makers if you can pay back $9.75 a month for 12 months

LOANS now cost less at Household Finance. Charges have been reduced on every loan we make. Here are some examples of the savings the new rates bring.

See these savings

At the lawful maximum rate a loan of $50, for instance, repayable in 10 equal monthly installments, costs $8.62. At Household you pay $1.49 less. Or take a loan of $100 repayable in 12 equal monthly installments. The cost of your loan at the lawful maximum rate is $20.55. At Household you pay $3.57 less, a saving of almost one-fifth!

One rate to everyone

These savings can be made by everyone who borrows at Household, whether a new customer or a former borrower.

Borrow without co-makers on your own payment plan

Suppose you need $100 and can conveniently repay $9.75 a month. Twelve payments of this amount will repay your loan in full, including charges. And to get your Household loan you need no co-makers or endorsers.

Find the amount of cash you need in the first column of the table. Then read across, picking out the monthly payment which you wish to make. (Household also makes loans for other amounts.) Note that you can make very small payments if you prefer. Or you can pay larger installments and pay up sooner. The quicker you repay the less you

50-Mile Speed Limit Stands, Adams Warns

State Police Head, However, Compliments Drivers On Increased Safety

HARRISBURG, Aug. 21.—Motor Police Commissioner Lynn G. Adams today coupled a compliment to Pennsylvania motorists for their co-operation in reducing the accident rate during the last 18 months with a warning that the 50-mile speed limit "has not and will not be relaxed."

Observing that the decline in highway accidents to greater care on the part of the motorist, Major Adams asserted that "recent observations indicate an inclination on the part of some people to disregard the 50-mile-per-hour speed limit."

Major Adams said Motor Police-men traveled 13,809,424 miles on highway patrol work in the first seven months of 1939—an increase of 26.4 per cent over the same period last year.

"We are not willing to sacrifice the lives of persons using Pennsylvania highways in the interest of speed," he said.

Mr. Adams was placed at the head of the combined State Police and State Highway Patrol by Gov. Arthur H. James.

The 50-mile speed limit and safety campaign was launched by former Gov. George H. Earle.

For years, loan companies have charged everyone who borrowed from them according to standard schedules of charges that gave little or no recognition to people with established good credit. In line with this, some loan companies still charge the maximum rate allowed by law for small loans. Some other loan companies charge slightly less than this lawful maximum. Now Personal adds to its regular service a new "Special" Loan to help responsible persons save on loan costs.

"SPECIAL" LOAN

Under this plan, responsible persons of established credit standing save as much as one-sixth the maximum lawful rate on loans up to $300.

To obtain a loan under this plan you need:

1. Steady income or salary sufficient to meet payments promptly without undue strain.
2. A good credit record.

You get any amount up to $300 at Personal's new low rate of only 2 1/2% per month for the first $100 and 2% per month on balances over $100, on just the actual balance owed.

Tonight, at Midnight...

we hand over our Tennessee Electric Properties and a $2,800,000 Tax Problem.

AT MIDNIGHT, TONIGHT, The Commonwealth & Southern Corporation turns over to various public officials all of its electric properties in the State of Tennessee.

We have always believed, and still believe, that the interests of the public are better served by privately operated utilities than by publicly operated plants. Take our Tennessee properties for example:

The State of Tennessee and most of the communities we have been serving have depended, in no small part, upon the taxes they have collected from us to pay the cost of their governmental activities, including school, water, fire, health and other services.

Our Tennessee properties paid into local and state treasuries a total of $2,225,000 from electric revenues, for the 12 months ended June 30, 1939; with federal taxes, the total for this period is about $2,800,000. That is more than 20 cents out of every dollar received for electric service in Tennessee... it amounts to over $7,670 in taxes for every day of the year.

All of our facilities in Tennessee have been built with the money of many private investors. The communities never had to increase their debts to build plants and distributing systems; they never had to pay out interest on bonds issued for electric service. The savings of thousands of citizens were brought, and would continue to have been brought, into this territory to help produce more industry, more local wealth and more steady jobs.

Our Tennessee operation has long given its customers one of the lowest average residential electric rates in the country... as have our other operations in the North and in the South. Our rate has been reduced steadily to where, at the present time, it is much below the national average.

We have continually helped households to own modern labor-saving and convenience appliances, which have already placed the standard of leisure and living in our Tennessee territory considerably above the average in the country.

As result of our progressive merchandising and low electric rates, the average home in our Tennessee territory used far more electricity last year than was used by the average home in the entire United States.

• • • • •

We have had to sell our electric properties and turn over a splendid organization to the Tennessee Valley Authority and other governmental agencies because we could not stay in business and compete with virtually tax-free and heavily subsidized plants.

Incidentally, our taxes have been multiplying and mounting for years. They are an ever increasing problem... a veritable "headache", which other taxpayers can well appreciate. To be rid of any tax worries is, of course, always a relief.

We now turn over to government agencies, for about four-fifths of its real value, one of the finest public utility services in this or any other country... one representing private investments of about a hundred million dollars.

Almost all the money we are receiving from this sale will be used to pay back the owners of the outstanding bonds and preferred stocks of The Tennessee Electric Power Company, at 100 cents on the dollar. A substantial percentage of these investors live in Tennessee. The common shareholders, principally The Commonwealth & Southern Corporation, are taking all of the loss.

To buy our properties, the municipalities are selling bonds largely tax-free and TVA is selling Government obligations which, in addition, will be a lien upon the incomes of all of us. These tax-free municipal and federal securities will be owned largely outside Tennessee. As a result, much income which citizens of Tennessee received from our Company will no longer benefit this community.

The incomes from all Tennessee Electric Power securities have, of course, been subject to taxation and have long helped to carry the costs of government. Whenever government takes over a private business, not only does the public lose the benefit of taxes paid directly by the business but also the substantial taxes paid by the owners of its securities.

• • • • •

We sincerely hope that our former customers in this territory will continue to enjoy one of the best electrical services in the country.

To numerous friends and associates in Tennessee, many of whom have been most helpful and considerate, we are deeply indebted and very grateful. We wish them every success. Our hope is they will never be required to defend a business of their own against government subsidized competition.

Dr. Dafoe's Column On The Quintuplets And The Care Of Your Children

Copyright 1938, King Features Syndicate, Inc.

IMMUNIZATION BY USE OF SERUMS IS FINE—WITH- IN REASON

The other day a woman came in to tell me about her three children. She announced very proudly that she had had them vaccinated and inoculated against almost every disease imaginable, and she was rather taken aback when she found out the Dionne quintuplets have been immunized only against diphtheria and smallpox.

Of course I think giving serums to children is fine—within reason. When they are being given, one should consider susceptibility and remember that age exercises a lot of influence on this susceptibility.

For instance smallpox and several other infectious diseases often occur within the first few weeks of life, whereas diphtheria and other diseases rarely occur before the child is at least six months old. The diseases that most commonly occur shortly after birth are smallpox, erysipelas, whooping cough and chicken pox. Various forms of meningitis also sometimes strike a very young baby.

Diphtheria and scarlet fever aren't often seen in a child under a year, although they do occasionally appear at six months. Measles and infantile paralysis are also rare in the first six months of life.

Because it is dangerous and because it appears almost any time after birth, smallpox is the first disease a child should be immunized against. In the ordinary healthy child, vaccinating for smallpox should be done as early as the third or fourth month.

Sometimes you find people who tell you that there is no need to vaccinate their child, because he was exposed to the disease and never contracted it. Well, that isn't the reason for not vaccinating at all, for the child may have had a temporary immunity that will disappear within a few weeks.

The quintuplets were a year old before we vaccinated them against smallpox. You see, they weren't very strong and we didn't want to upset them more than we absolutely had to. Besides, their case was different than most children, for we were keeping them segregated all the time. There wasn't any chance of infection getting to them. Anyway, at that time we didn't know of a single case of smallpox in the whole countryside, so we took a chance.

Actually we were more afraid of diphtheria than of smallpox, so we inoculated them against this disease before we gave them the smallpox vaccination. We did this because diphtheria is sometimes prevalent in a community without being recognized, and what was more the children had very bad tonsils, which made them more susceptible to diphtheria.

I find it wise to wait for cool weather for inoculating children. For one thing, there is less danger of a secondary infection.

In the old days, when we vaccinated we used to scarify the arm quite a bit before rubbing the vaccine in, and this led to a secondary infection very, very often. But today the method is to make a very light scratch that just down to the true skin, and then rub the vaccine in. It isn't necessary to draw blood as we used to. It works just as well too, for I know it worked on the quintuplets. It "took" on every one of the five.

White House "Palace Guard" In New Political Maneuver

Boom Kennedy For President

Seek To Have Massachusetts Democrats To Name Him Favorite Son

SECRET PURPOSE IS TO HIT FARLEY

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—A presidential boom for Joseph P. Kennedy, American ambassador to Britain, with the object of getting Massachusetts Democrats to propose him as a "favorite son" was disclosed today as the latest political maneuver of the White House "palace guard."

The secret purpose of the "guardsmen" is to destroy the political prestige of Postmaster General James A. Farley, soon to return from a European vacation. The "palace guard" fight on the postmaster general, incidentally, is being continued under cover, despite President Roosevelt's recent declaration that reports of their efforts to out Farley from the Democratic chairmanship were "tommyrot."

Vice Presidential Aim?

The Kennedy boom, while ostensibly directed at the presidency, would be launched, in reality, to win him the vice presidential nomination. Thus, Kennedy would be brought out against Farley, who is reported determined to win the second place on the 1940 Democratic ticket if he cannot be nominated as standard-bearer.

With Kennedy as their candidate for second place, the "guardsmen" believe the president would take sides in behalf of Farley. And they also believe Farley can be defeated if his chief rival for the vice presidential nomination is, like himself, an Irish Catholic.

There is one obstacle to the Kennedy boom, Senator David I. Walsh, a power in Massachusetts politics, is opposed to an instructed delegation. He wants the Massachusetts delegation to go to the 1940 convention uninstructed. The Kennedy boom may die on that issue.

HONORED ON BIRTHDAY

A most enjoyable affair occurred Saturday evening when about forty relatives and friends gathered at the home of Mrs. Carrie Bookamer to help her celebrate her birthday. Games and music helped to pass the evening hours in a most interesting manner until a huge bonfire was kindled on the lawn around which the group enjoyed a corn and wiener roast.

Mrs. Bookamer at the conclusion of the evening was presented with an array of beautiful and useful gifts as remembrances of the happy occasion.

Out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. E. N. Turner and son Warren, of Pittsburgh.

New Castle Hot Tops vs. Ellwood City at Ellwood City.
Wampum vs. Hillsville at Hillsville.
New Castle Red Sox vs. Bessemer at Bessemer.

Because of the defeat by the New Castle Red Sox of the Ellwood City Socials last Friday, there is potential possibility a play-off may be necessary by Ellwood City league leaders and Bessemer. At present Ellwood City has only one game to play Bessemer has two.

If Ellwood City should win today their percentage will be .722. If Bessemer wins today their percentage will be .705. However, the Bessemer team is accredited with having played only 16 games. Ellwood City has played 17.

Should Bessemer win today and also win their other game with Prisco, it would send them into a deadlock with Ellwood City and a play-off would result.

Ellwood City has protested the Red Sox victory, by sending to Ed Fritz, who is the chairman Lawrence County Baseball league commission, a protest as follows:

The Protest
"We, the Ellwood City Socials Baseball team, are filing a protest of the contest between the New Castle Red Sox and our team played Friday, August 18, at New Castle, for your consideration.

"In the first of the seventh, the Socials scored a run to tie the score of 1 to 1.

"In the last of the seventh, Redder, first man up, struck out. Louers walked and Umpire Cini called the game.

"The Socials protested and Cini explained it would be too dark by the time side would be retired and declared that if Louer had not walked he would not have called the game.

"The Socials protested the game, being their protest on.

"Cini's statement that it would be too dark by the time the side would be retired.

"The game did not start at 5:45 p. m. the scheduled time because the umpires failed to appear on time.

"In the judgment of the Ellwood players, it was not too dark to play by.

"The game was called at 7:15 p. m. nullifying Ellwood's run in the first of the seventh and reverting the game to the sixth inning, making the New Castle Red Sox winners by the score of 1-0."

Ask Immediate Report
The commission is composed of Charles Cox, Ellwood City Ledger sports writer, Mr. Allen of Wampum and Fritz. The commission today instructed League Secretary James Martin to order Umpire Cini to communicate with him or other members of the commission.

They want a report. Under baseball rules the judgment of an umpire cannot be questioned. However, due to the situation that has developed he will be required to make a written report immediately for the commission's consideration.

Slovaks Nearer To League Crown

James "Shimmy" Balla Pitches Four-Hit Game As Slovaks Top Ryantown Sunday

The Slovak Club baseball team is one step closer to the second-half title in the City Baseball league as a result yesterday of James "Shimmy" Balla giving Ryantown but four hits and in general handi-cuffing the West Siders in every inning.

The score was 10 to 4. But for 4 mis-cues on the part of his mates Balla would have registered a shutout.

Eddie "Alabama" Kirol had the only extra-base hit in the game, a double. The Slovaks hopped on Fisher for a six-run attack in the second-inning. Ryantown scored all four of its runs in the third in-ning. Balla fanned seven men and issued but one free-throw to first base.

Bill Majeski and George "Pop" Adams each had two hits for the Slovaks. Tuesday the Slovaks will play the Indies at the Cedar Street Field.

Afield And Astream

Lawrence County Sportsmens Association By GEORGE SILLMAN

IN CANADA
I am going to write this article with the hopes of bringing a little first hand information of Canada's fishing to those who have never had the opportunity to try it.

The writer, Bill McKeon and Tony Rich, all of New Castle, left for their fishing trip on Saturday, August 12, at 9 p. m., driving all the way, without stopping for anything but eating. Arriving at North Bay, Ont., Sunday, at 3 p. m. our car was loaded with provisions, camping equipment to last us our two weeks stay in the wilderness of Popular Lake, 35 or 40 miles north of North Bay. After getting supper, we scouted about the town and run into Nick Cassello, Bill Klee and Burr Rogers of New Castle, who are here for a 10 day fishing trip at Lake Tilden. We met our guide, Donald Guerton, a French Canadian and his family later that evening, who treated us about as nice as anybody could. Nothing was too good for us. Monday morning we left with our guide, Donald, for Tilden Lake, a 25 mile drive from North Bay. Arriving at Tilden, we set at once unloading our supplies into a boat and canoe. Towing our canoe across Tilden, we unloaded and started our portage over to Bear Lake. They say the portage is 1/2 mile or so. But a brush mile is no city mile by any means. After 2 portages by each member of the crew, which gave your writer his first chance to use a pack sack with a tump strap over his head, to balance the load, we again loaded the first boat load for Popular Lake, which will take us to our camping spot in the Nepissing Crown Game Reserve. Our guide returned to pick up the balance of the provisions and the portage to keep the bear away, with a fishing pole as the only means of protection. Guns are prohibited in the Reserve at all times. Leaving with the last boat load about 6 p. m. Monday, we went up Bear Lake into Popular river into Popular Lake. On the way we sighted moose and deer feeding on the lily pads along the shore line. Our camp is about 10 miles from Tilden Lake camp, where our car is parked. It is an island about 100 yards long and about 30 yards wide of solid rock in the middle of Popular Lake. When we arrived Tony and Bill had everything in readiness for a hot supper, which was a God-send to a hungry bunch of fishermen.

The same evening your writer tried his luck with the plugs on the great Northern Pike, and landed one 33 inches long weighing 6 pounds.

As a big gallery cheered on, Edenburg nosed out Nashua, 8-7, in a thrilling 10 inning battle, played Sunday at Edenburg.

The game was a see-saw affair with Nashua grabbing the leading only to see their foes come back. In the first of the 10th, Nashua crossed the plate twice. Edenburg rallied, scoring three times to tip the City-County loop decision. Mic-co's three run homer featured for the winners while A. Retrakswat-ted a four plyer for the Nashua club.

BRENT TOPPED WAMPUM
The Brent team topped the Wampum White Sox in an independent league game last Friday evening at the Lone Pine Field, 5 to 1 with Bob Finnich the winning hurler and Price the loser. Finnich gave the White Sox but six hits.

Score by innings: R H E
Brent 010 000 010 2—7 12 2
Wampum 000 000 000 0—0 0 0
Batteries: Brent, Williams, Bobby Fox, Ted Williams, Bobby Doerr and a few other swatsmiths. D. Mago is the greatest thing in baseball, without a doubt. It will take more than one DiMaggio to knock down a gang of inspired players like the Red Sox. While the Yanks are trying to pull out of their slump, Boston is inspired and determined. It is tough to lick a group of inspired, pennant mad athletes. Should the tail-end of the schedule decide the pennant winner, the National League champs will be in a good spot to cop the classic. The Reds or Cards will be meeting a fatigued club, an aggregation forced to give all it had to cop one title. In sports teams seldom come up to a certain pitch twice especially in such a short time. Even if the Red Sox do not cop the banner, they really made a race out of it. It looked like a cinch for the Yanks at the start. Today, a big question mark stands in front of the Mc-Carthymen.

Sports World Ramblings

September holds the answer
For the first time in years the American League championship may be won in typical National League fashion. September holds the answer. As the leaves start their trek towards the cool ground, the New York Yankees and Boston Red Sox will face each other ten times. The crucial series starts September 2. The final meeting date is October 1, a few days before the start of the autumn classic. Should the Red Sox step up a bit closer to the champs between now and September, fans will see a series that should rival the blue ribbon event as far as action is concerned.

"Race not over," Cronin
In Joe Cronin's book, the race is far from over. "Didn't we beat the Yanks five in a row? Why can't it be done again?" Cronin asks the sporting world to answer these questions. The taciturn Cronin has been scheming and preparing for his chance. He has been nursing along his pitchers, spending long nights fashioning an attack. Right now the Red Sox are playing better ball than the champs. Joe DiMaggio, Keller and Red Rolfe have been holding up the Yankee attack. The Red Sox have been clicking in machine-like style. With the exception of Ruffing the Yankee pitchers are shaky. Gomez,

Armstrong And Ambers Battle Tuesday Night

Betting Seven To Five Armstrong Wins From Ambers Second Time

FIRST MEETING VICIOUS FIGHT

By LAWTON CARVER
International News Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK, August 21.—We are on the eve of what should be one of the great lightweight fights of all time, but this is said with some trepidation, for allegedly better men than Henry Armstrong, the champion, and Lou Ambers, challenger, and ex-champion, have built up the customers' hopes of seeing a real good blood-letting only to fail quite noticeably after the money was in the register. However, for those who must have their occasional helpings of savagery there is precedent in this case, the same being the previous meeting between the two a year ago.

That was the evening when Armstrong completed his triple-decked conquest by beating Ambers for the lightweight crown to become the first man ever to fit three crowns on one head at the same time.

That was a fight for you, as bloody, fierce and brutal a piece of business as you'd care to see, with two little guys in there whanging away at each other for the full distance of 15 rounds and with Armstrong the winner, but staggering into the wrong corner at the finish.

So, going on that for what it's worth, another guy valiant stand by both of them is to be expected tomorrow night. Other salient points in the matter are that the engagement is scheduled for 15 rounds, the site to be Yankee Stadium, the betting odds 7 to 5

I. O. O. F. Lodge Tenders Banquet To Ball Players

Local And Out-Of-Town Talent Present Entertaining Program Saturday Night

ELLWOOD CITY, Aug. 21.—The Methodist church dining room was the scene of a large fraternal banquet Saturday night when 207 members of the I. O. O. F., their families and friends sat down to a banquet held by the lodge in honor of the baseball team.

At the close of the menu, John Brown and John Vogler, acting as masters of ceremonies, introduced a most entertaining and varied program. The entertainment opened with a clever chalk talk by W. F. Kegel, whose nimble fingers with the colored crayon provided ten minutes of fun for the assemblage; then followed Lonesome Larry and his saddlemates, whose combined musical numbers and songs were well worth hearing. A feature of the group was Lonesome Larry's trick fiddling in acrobatic postures, and the comedy relief, who was above the average with his wash-tub bass fiddle, his infectious grin and a genuine sense of humor in putting over a joke; Dorothy Jean Wissel of Pittsburgh, nine-year-old trained acrobatic dancer and niece of Mr. Vogler, exhibited cleverly trained muscles in an acrobatic waltz number.

The second part of the program was in the able hands of a group of orphans from the I. O. O. F. home in Pittsburgh. They were Miss Rosella McCoy and associates who contributed duets, solos and trio numbers. Outstanding was Miss McCoy, who has had considerable experience singing at banquets and meetings throughout the state. Her soprano voice shows considerable training and promises to develop into a real lyric quality. This quality was especially noted in her rendition of the difficult "Italian Street Song," also "Ah Sweet Mystery of Life." She was most gracious in her encores and showed remarkable poise in a concluding number on the program the three Welker sisters of New Castle blended their harmonious voices in sacred and southern songs. Dressed alike in smart black suits with crisp white blouses they presented harmony in more ways than one.

The committee in charge of the affair: Charles McKough, chairman, assisted by John Brown, John Vogler, Charles McKim, Arthur Watterston, Lawrence Rabberman and Keith Hazen, are to be congratulated upon its outstanding success.

Last Rites For Mrs. Steinberger

ELLWOOD CITY, Aug. 21.—Funeral services for Mrs. Nancy Wilson Steinberger, wife of Wylie Steinberger, who passed away on Thursday evening, were held on Sunday afternoon at 2:30 p. m. from the late residence, 631 Park avenue, this city.

Rev. Calvin Rose, pastor of the Second U. P. church, New Castle, of which she was a member, officiated and was assisted by Rev. Bernice C. Osterhouse, pastor of the First Baptist church, this city. Many beautiful floral offerings bore testimony to the esteem and affection in which she was held. Out-of-town relatives and friends attended from Confluence, Pa., New Castle, Butler, Allegheny, and Meadville.

Palbearers were: Warren Wilson, Clytus Steinberger, Jay E. Buono, and A. V. Rodgers, Ellwood City, and A. R. Wilson, Meadville and O. E. Wick, Butler. Interment was made in the Castle View cemetery, New Castle.

Girl Scouts At Kiondashawa In Water Spectacle

Entertain Visitors At Camp Sunday Afternoon With Exhibition Of Water Prowess

OVERNIGHT HIKES TO FEATURE WEEK

Girl Scouts of Camp Kiondashawa entertained a large crowd of visitors on Sunday afternoon with a water spectacle, which included various water contests and a diving exhibition, with a large number of the girls taking part.

The closing feature of the program for the afternoon was the flag lowering exercise at 5 o'clock, participated in by all of the scouts and councilors.

The last week of camp will be a busy one for the girls and will be featured by overnight hikes and hayrides in addition to regular program. Tuesday morning, members of the gypsy unit will go to the Pymatuning dam, accompanied by their councilors, and will remain until Friday night, camping out in pup tents. They will visit the museum at the dam and enjoy themselves in various ways with the wonders to be found in that vicinity.

The Sherwood Forest group of the Middle Unit will have an overnight hike tonight, and Tuesday night the Hobby Unit will have its overnight hike.

Tonight the gypsies and Colonists are going for a hayride through the surrounding countryside near Trans-fer.

In the swimming contests held Sunday afternoon, the Hobby Unit was victorious, with the Dutch Unit taking second place.

The various events and the winners were as follows:

Candle race—First, Marjorie Howe, Hobby Unit; second, Helen Montana, Colonists.

Surface dive under water—First, Helen Brown, Dutch unit; second,

Evelyn "Mickey" Blank, Sherwood Forest.

Distance glide—First, Jean Rundell, Hobby unit; second, Mary Louise Davis, Gypsy unit.

Dive for height—First, Lois Ann Deely, Colonists; second, Marjorie Howe, Hobby unit.

Pountain dive—First, Hope Chad-dock, Sherwood Forest unit; second, Helen Montana, Colonists.

Crawl race—First, Helen Brown, Dutch unit; second, Helen Milton, Gypsy unit.

Statue dive—First, Mabel Hax-thorne, Dutch unit; second, Gladys Gibson, Gypsy unit.

Back crawl—First, Marilou Haller, Hobby unit; Evelyn Blank, Dutch unit.

Tug-of-war—Won by Hobby, Sherwood Forest and Dutch units vs Gypsies and Colonists. Representing the Gypsies were Ruth Nowalk, Betty Ward and Elsie Mundy; Colonists, Helen Montana, Betty Callahan and Doreen Logue; Hobby unit, Jean Hovis, Jean Rundell and Roberta Street; Sherwood Forest, Mar-jorie Hardesty, Jean Book and Doris Anderson; Dutch unit, Marian Thomas, Mary Lou McCreary, Tibie Siffkin and Doris Patterson.

Those taking part in the diving exhibition were:

Front dive—Mary Louise Davis, Helen Brown, Arlene Blank, Mary Lou Montgomery, Betty Stritzinger, Back dive—Arlene Blank, Helen Brown.

Jack-knife—Mary Louise Davis, Mickey Blank, Arlene Blank.

Swan dive—Mickey Blank, Arlene Blank, Dorothy Marshall, Mary Lou Montgomery.

Sitting dive—Betty Stritzinger.

Hand stand dive—Evelyn Blank.

Free swims were then granted the members of each unit for a ten-minute period.

All of the girls in camp are still enjoying camp life to the utmost, and regret the passing of each day now, as it brings them just one day nearer to the closing period next Sunday.

Many Planes Land At Airport Here

Local Airport Becoming Regular Stop-Over For Many Out-Of-Town Pilots

New Castle airport is fast becoming a popular stop-over airdrome for cross country flyers. Within the past few days a number of planes on long distance flights have landed here for fuel and service and to greet the local flyers.

Those registering at the W. H. Ice-hanger were: Jack Tyre, flying an Aeronca from Minneapolis; Jay Goldberg from Fox Lake, Ill., in a Cub coupe; Red Johnson and Ralph Kirk, also from Minneapolis, piloting a new Piper Cub. From Blairsville, Pa., came Dr. Fred Wilson in his Waco ship, stopping before continuing on a distant cross country hop. Art Anderson, well known in midwest aviation circles, brought his Cub in from Des Moines, Iowa. Sergeant McGill, formerly of this city and now of Altoona, brought his all-metal Luscombe down to say hello.

Aircraft manufacturers are advising fly-away from factory purchasers of new planes to take advantage of the facilities of the local port during flights to their home base. This courtesy, along with the many out-of-town flyers who land here, is daily helping to make New Castle better known about the country.

Hitch-Hiker Of Prospect Visits Here Saturday

Has Traveled 255,000 Miles And Spent Forty-Six Years In Office

J. A. McGowan of Prospect, king of hitch-hikers in the United States, hitch-hiked from his native town Saturday to Cascade park, where he attended the Dunn-Beighly reunion. Incidentally he dropped into The News office and gave an account of his recent trip to the New York world's fair.

By the route he went he traveled 1,100 miles in going from Prospect to the fair and back. Going, he made 13 hitches, and reached his destination in 16 hours. Coming back he made 10 hitches and reached home in 14 hours.

In coming to the reunion here Saturday he hitch-hiked around by Slippery Rock, having no trouble at all in getting rides. Since 1930 McGowan has hitch-hiked 255,000 miles or about ten times around the globe.

But McGowan don't spend all his time hitch-hiking. He has held office in Butler county for 46 years. He is a Democrat. In Prospect, which has 230 Republicans and 90 Democratic voters, he held the office of burgess four years, council eight years, school board four years, constable eight years, street commissioner two years, judge of election two years. This makes 30 years in office in Prospect.

In the county he has held two terms as jury commissioner or eight years, and one term of four years as county auditor.

In the state he has held the office of guide in the state capital under Governor Earle for four years. Total 46 years in office.

He is now a candidate for county auditor on the Democratic ticket, and is sure that he will be elected.

Eight Hundred Hear Evangelist's Story

Evangelist Dan McNally preached to record Sunday afternoon and evening crowds in the Calvary Gospel Tabernacle. An over-capacity crowd filled the tabernacle at the evening service and heard Mr. McNally's life story, "From Crime to Christ." After going into detail about his eight years of prison life, his attempts to escape and how he was shot down by guards and nearly died, he related how he was saved from crime to Christ and the ministry. Rev. R. J. Fredericks of the tabernacle says that the estimated attendance last night was 800.

Rev. Ralph Stoll of the Calvary Baptist church in Altoona will preach at the tabernacle each night this week at 7:30.

The Human Side Of The News

(By EDWIN C. HILL)

Copyright 1939 King Features Syndicate, Inc.

In the news on a single day are two stories about Indians which, considered together, might reveal the red man as standing at the crossroads.

One, from Brownings, Mont., tells of a jitterbug contest as a feature of the annual ceremonial dance of the Blackfeet tribe. The other reports the newly published biography of Chief Standing Bear as a bitter repudiation of the white man's civilization.

The late Mary Austin, no doubt, would be shocked with the news of the Indians becoming jitterbugs. She was alive today. This brilliant writer, who devoted most of her life to working for the material and spiritual advancement of the Indians, fervently believed that there was profound wisdom and healing in their ancient ceremonies. She and John Collier, both sensitive mystics, contended mightily for the soul of the Indian. Congress finally awarded it to Mr. Collier, making him head of the Bureau of Indian Affairs.

Mabel Dodge Luhan, the one time grande dame of Greenwich Village, writer and patron of left wing belles lettres, also had intervened in the struggle for the Indian, incidentally marrying one.

That their age-old "crazy dog" and "pigeon" dances should be perverted into jitterbug antics surely would have been a horror to all of them—as on that day in Taos when Mary Austin vehemently exclaimed, "These are MY Indians," and told the others to keep off.

"Foghorn" Murphy and Alexander Phymister Proctor once engaged in a Faustian struggle for the soul of an Indian named Sundown and both lost. It was in San Francisco, twenty years ago. Foghorn Murphy's life work was to ride the length of Market Street every day in the baseball season, on a prancing white horse, and sing out "Play Ball!" with a voice like the Mauretania foghorn.

Mr. Proctor is a distinguished sculptor who has done much of the imposing monumental sculpture of the country, including the McKinley monument in Buffalo. He had brought Sundown from the wilds of eastern Oregon to pose for him in his studio in the Santa Clara Valley.

Sundown, tall and stately, endowed with great dignity, seemed, and slightly stirred by his first view of a great city until he saw the barrel-chested Foghorn on his handsome horse and heard his mighty voice. He knew no English but rushed into the street to hail the great white chief with appropriate sign talk and tokens of esteem. Foghorn was delighted.

Right there, Mr. Proctor's troubles began. When Sundown should have been posing, he was off with Foghorn having a rootin' tootin' big time all over town. Mr. Proctor, a small, precise, grammatical man was troubled not only by this hindrance to his work but by what he deemed the highly questionable associations of his Indian. He feared that Sundown would be led into evil ways.

A friend of this writer tried to get Sundown back to the studio, in behalf of Mr. Proctor, but with practically no success. For days on end the worried little sculptor trailed Foghorn and Sundown but never caught up with them, getting only reports of the big excitement they stirred up at this hangout or that. Once he trailed them to the rodeo, both out in the arena, and trying to seize Sundown, was butted over the fence by a steer and wore his arm in a sling for the rest of the chase.

Finally, Mr. Proctor appeared at my friend's office with a sad story. "I trailed them to a low place known as Darroux's," he said. (Frank Darroux's saloon at the foot of Powell Street was considered quite elegant in that day.)

"Sundown had taught this wretched Foghorn an Indian song. The place was full of gross looking men and as Foghorn sang, Sundown danced. The men seemed to be enjoying this disgraceful exhibition and paid no attention to me as I entered. I knew drastic measures were necessary, so I advanced to the center of the group, clapped my hands sharply, looked them right in the eye and said, 'Gentlemen, that is MY Indian.'

They were extremely rude. They said that since I had interrupted their entertainment, I would have to dance instead. I positively cannot dance, but they compelled me to go through certain awkward gyrations for an indefinite time and when they finally relented, Foghorn and Sundown were gone."

They kept right on going. Mr. Proctor never did get his Indian. Somehow, Foghorn promoted a horse for Sundown and he rode back to his own people, after many strange adventures which no doubt will go on far down in tribal legends. On his first day in the city, Sundown had spotted the one man who looked and talked like the chief and in the lore of his people, San Francisco is no doubt a remote encampment of white men ruled by the great Foghorn.

Schoolmates Of Other Days Meet

Visitors Here Are Honored By Former Pupils Of Harlansburg School

Miss Harriet Sterling of Pasadena, Cal., and Mrs. Gertrude Mueller of Lakewood, N. J., were guests of honor Saturday evening at a little reunion of Harlansburg school pupils, held at Rock Springs. The reunion was hastily organized, consequently word could not be sent to all former pupils, but about forty were present. Covers for a picnic dinner were spread on a big flat rock near a crystal spring that gushes from the hillside, and from which Rock Springs derives its name.

In the old days the present picnic grounds were known to the picknickers simply as McCracken's bridge. Some of those present had not seen each other for twenty-five years or more, and the evening was pleasantly spent in reviving old memories.

Miss Sterling and Mrs. Mueller, in whose honor the event was arranged were former pupils at Harlansburg school. Miss Sterling taught at Thaddeus-Stevens school here for a number of years and is now a teacher in a college at Pasadena. Mrs. Mueller is secretary of the Y. W. C. A. at Lakewood, N. J.
